Dear Sir/Madam

My email was sent back from the email address below

I have also sent an 'easy reply' communication, but felt it did not satisfy, so I wrote this below

Please consider the points raised.

I am a Civil Engineer with over 30yrs experience.

sincerely

David Evans

Subject: National Dev Framework Consultation

I wish to make comment on your approach to this subject.

Only through CPRW and our assembly member, have I even heard about this Framework. Many others will not know about it and not have the time to digest

It has spawned masses of online pdf's that only developers read.

It is not a good consultation as NOTHING has come through my door, yes, no communication with me.

You should review how you attempt to communicate with the public.

To think you can divert around the public viewpoint, is naive and rude.

This subject is as important as an election to us here in Mid Wales, when major Landscape and Infrastructure changes are considered.

To leave it to Ove Arup to decide Priority Areas is also naive, where is their explanation of these areas ?

I used to think that the UK Government were holding the strings on the relentless increase in poultry farms in this area, but now believe it is the Welsh Government who have pushed both this Framework and all its changes, together with over 500 poultry farms constructed in the area, with subsequent disastrous consequences to the Environment and well being of all living things in this area.

I conclude:-

build more hospitals

increase safe cycling routes

plant many more trees

build wind and solar panels in the right areas (offshore and on shore) if you don't know where, ask us.

Please bear in mind, Wales is a small country and even though we may punch above our weight in rugby, we and all animals, birds etc treasure our countryside here in Mid Wales. May it remain that way, talk to us.

Sincerely

David Evans
