Welcome and Introductions

The Chair welcomed members present and those online to the inaugural Wales Coasts and Seas Partnership meeting, and the first hybrid meeting of the group since before the pandemic. Members of the group introduced themselves.

A highlight report (see Annex A) was circulated to the group ahead of the meeting.

The Chair introduced the morning session focussing on progress, actions and next steps across the three themes.

Ocean Literacy

Kathryn Hughes, Natural Resources Wales (NRW) presented an overview of the highlights from the UK Ocean Literacy survey results and Kirsty Lindenbaum discussed outputs from the Ocean Literacy workshops and next steps.

The group were interested to find out more about the spatial analysis of responses to the survey, which the working group will consider.

The group questioned how the results of the survey will influence our actions.

Suggestions for engaging with hard-to-reach audiences were made, with support for a Wales Coastal Expo or a Royal Welsh event for the sea. The idea of Champions and Communities of Practice was put forward.

Ocean Literacy Actions

- Working group meeting 27th October to discuss action planning.
- Working group to consider and act on: (Kath/Kirsty/Emma)
- Spatial analysis of responses to survey
- How does the survey influence our actions? Hard-to-reach audiences?
- Take forward Coastal Expo/Royal Welsh for the Sea
- Champions and Communities of Practice (particularly related to Equality, Diversity and Inclusion, and geographical communities)

Sustainable Investment

Kirsty Lindenbaum, NRW gave a presentation on the Nature Networks Fund.

Alice Teague provided an update on the contract let to Finance Earth, Eunomia and RSPB to provide advice on ecosystem service markets, innovative financing mechanisms and relevant business models across Wales. There are also a number of recommendations coming out of the Biodiversity 30 x 30 Deep Dive which the Partnership can pick up quickly, such as those on capacity, community engagement, sustainable investment.

Sustainable Investment Actions

- Ensure Working group is plugged into the process of WG making clear its policy position on private finance. Alice
- Ensure Jennifer Godwin (Seabed Users Group) is included in Working group – Gareth/Hilary
- Working group to ensure community benefits are an outcome of sustainable finance as well as nature recovery – Gareth

- Pembrokeshire Coastal Forum Payments for Ecosystem Services work needs to be included - Jetske

Wales Marine and Fisheries Scheme

Gary Douch provided an Update on the Wales Marine and Fisheries Scheme (WMFS). The WMFS includes work to address both sustainable investment and building capacity.

The first two scheme funding rounds will focus on Marketing measures, Energy efficiencies and mitigation of climate change.

The Environment and Rural Affairs Strategic Analysis Team were commissioned to carry out a rapid literature evidence review on community engagement and held two stakeholder workshops alongside this in September. The aim of the workshops and evidence review is to understand existing community led action projects and what approaches work well in their communities to help with design of a capacity building proposal.

Members were asked if they were content with the scope and direction of travel of the scheme development.

Comments were that working with communities takes time, therefore longer term rather than short term projects are preferred. Funding continuity is important and not just funding for innovative and novel projects.

Targeting specific programmes was raised as a consideration, along with how to reach marginalised communities.

Funding Policy Advisory Group Actions

- The Funding Policy Advisory group will re-convene in mid-November. A key item on that agenda to be guidance for grant fund.

Building Capacity

The Chair highlighted the importance of getting communities involved through consultation and collaboration.

Case studies cited were Summit2Sea (now Tir Canol, having changed their approach in partnership with local communities), Restoring Seagrass in Dale Project, Wales Clean Seas Partnership and the Environment Agency's Championing Coastal Coordination initiative which has 13 coastal collaborative projects (more details below).

Many examples for collaborative coastal governance groups such as Coastal Partnerships, coastal groups, Flood and Coastal Erosion Committee, Wales Coastal Group Forum and MPA officers were signposted as providing opportunities to align and collaborate. The Striking the Balance report is also still very relevant.

Alys Morris, Severn Estuary Partnership gave a short presentation on Championing Coastal Coordination (3Cs) which is an Environment Agency funded initiative seeking to explore how to enhance and progress coordination for coastal sustainability and resilience in England.

Championing Coastal Coordination – Severn Estuary Partnership

The Chair and members discussed the idea of having a Marine National Park in Wales, similar to the Plymouth Marine Park. Whilst there is positive support there are legal issues to consider, as well as consequential implications of increasing the popularity of an area and the effects on its stewardship. A legal review would be needed, but a designation might not be statutory but more of a communications/engagement tool.

Other avenues and initiatives to be explored and built on include Other Effective area-based Conservation Measures (OECMs) potentially linked to the National Park concept, Tourism (as in Year of the Sea), using the model of the Royal Welsh county support for a National Marine Expo (which would be in common with the Ocean Literacy group).

Building Capacity Actions

- Set up a meeting to follow the Funding Policy Advisory Group in mid-late November – to allow any feedback to be included in the capacity building grant fund if possible.
- Define any deliverables and/or commission further evidence needs including considering the 3Cs recommendations for Wales – Peter/Hilary
- Explore Coastal Partnerships of the Local Nature Partnerships model – although to note power of CaSP is not just environmental, also socio-economic - Peter

Julie James MS, Minister for Climate Change

The Chair welcomed Julie James, MS, Minister for Climate Change to the meeting.

The Chair outlined achievements over this first year which have focussed on building momentum, identifying practical actions and forming smaller groups to take this work forward over the Senedd term. The Chair explained how the group has evolved from a Task and Finish group into a Partnership focussing on co-production and collaboration. The renewed focus for the group has resulted in an agreed 'Shared Narrative' which sets out what the Coasts and Seas Partnership is trying to achieve.

Members recognised the Minister wishes to see action and delivery in the short-term and they welcomed the opportunity for the Minister to direct them to realise this aspiration.

The Minister thanked members for their commitment and stressed her reliance on stakeholders on helping to achieve actions in this sphere.

The Minister thanked the Chair for his invaluable work with the group over the last 10 years and noted that he would be stepping down from the role next year. The Minister announced she would be publicly appointing a Chair as his replacement. Members support a Ministerial appointed Chair to elevate the status of the group and help raise the profile of the marine environment and importance of this group's work.

The Minister was keen for the CaSP to take ownership of the marine targets from the 30x30 Biodiversity Deep Dive to help Welsh Government understand what 30x30 looks like and a route plan in eight years, stressing that targets needed to be achievable and not just about designation. The Minister stated the importance of understanding the what, when and how for any targets and their delivery, with an action plan with concrete tangible actions to deliver those targets by 2030.

Need to consider how this group, or another existing one can take that forward (NB COP15 will define the overarching target further) – Alice/Caryn

The Biodiversity Core Group will have a Task and Finish group with marine experts, which the Chair will invite to the CaSP to maintain link up.

The Minister provided assurance that we would not be tearing up our current legislation, noting we should improve on what we already have and also to link back to the Well-being for Future Generations Act goals and indicators. This was met with support from members.

Members shared highlights and next steps from the Working groups with the Minister (see also Annex A). Points of particular interest in addition to earlier discussion were:

Ocean Literacy

Members discussed the challenges of engaging with harder to reach audiences. The Minister suggested lessons can be learnt from the single-use plastic work in co-ordinating simplified messages.

Members discussed with the Minister various opportunities for engaging and linking up with existing networks such as:

- A Cross-Party Group for Coasts and Seas in the Senedd, which the Minister was supportive.
- Aligning with new governance structure for Water in Welsh Government.
- Engage with Visit Wales and re-invigorate our link with the tourism sector.
- Engage with Future Generations Commissioner
- Motion for the Ocean – Monmouthshire County Council have declared support and have an Action Plan which could be a framework for other local authorities.

Sustainable Investment

The Minister would welcome advice on how to structure private finance for blue carbon so it not just an offsetting scheme – Gareth

PCF to send Alice Teague 'Payment for Ecosystem Services' work – Paul Renfro

Building Capacity

Members discussed with the Minister the importance of community engagement, myth busting messages and setting out tangible benefits to get communities on side.

Blue Carbon Presentation

Bex Lynam from Yorkshire Wildlife Trust gave a presentation on the UK Blue Carbon Mapping Project.

The project will develop an inventory and map of existing carbon stores and look at quantifying the future carbon storage potential of seabed habitats. The aim of the project is to demonstrate the potential of natural climate change solutions in the marine environment, the value and role that well-managed MPAs can play as a climate solution and to provide evidence of blue carbon potential to support future identification and management of MPAs, marine spatial planning and policy.

Action – Bex to invite representative from WG/NRW to sit on steering group – (completed)
