Notes

Commissioners met with representatives of the Mid Wales Rural Partnership to discuss the challenges facing rural communities such as economic sustainability; what active travel looks like in a rural context and how strategic initiatives are managed across borders (both within Wales and with England).

Key points noted were:

- Understanding of regional working delivery best outcomes in terms of budgets and delivery.
- The biggest challenges in terms of economic development are population density and demographic change along with aligning relevant skills attainment within a rural economy. It was noted there are increasing gaps in the health and care sectors.
- Differing views on the importance of grid connections within communities, with the views of those in support of more grid infrastructure often being overlooked.
- The politics of energy and water export without considered community benefits.
- Concern about impact of Brexit on development and delivery of large-scale infrastructure projects.
- Digital connectivity was still seen as a barrier to development.
