Trade Survey for Wales

Statistical First Release

Experimental Statistics - Trade Survey for Wales: 2018

The pilot Trade Survey for Wales captured sales data from businesses based in Wales. This release presents the 2018 findings.

These are experimental statistics as the method employed is still in development, and there are some known data quality issues, highlighted throughout this release. Notably:

- Incomplete coverage means the estimates do not cover all trade activity in Wales and should not be used to work out a trade balance, nor compared to total GVA/GDP.
- As a voluntary survey, there are small sample sizes which affect detailed breakdowns and comparisons between 2017 and 2018.
- Some respondents provided estimated values in their responses so the values provided will have varying degrees of reliability.

About this release

This release provides statistics on trade in goods and services from businesses in Wales. This includes both sales and purchases. Findings are analysed by location, business size and sector. Locations include Wales, rest of UK, rest of EU and rest of world.

The methodology is still in development, therefore these are experimental statistics. The sample excluded certain sectors and the survey does not cover direct consumer purchases.

For further information, see the Technical Report and FAQs.

In this release

|             | 12 |
|-------------|----|
| Sales       | 12 |
| Purchases   | 12 |
| Total Trade | 54 |
| Quality     | 56 |

Key Points:

2018 Sales

- 71% (£72.1bn) of sales from businesses in Wales were goods and 29% (£29.2bn) were services.
- 50% of sales went to customers in Wales, 30% to other parts of the UK, 12% to the rest of the EU and 6% to the rest of the world.

2018 Purchases

- 79% (£53.4bn) of purchases by businesses in Wales were goods and 21% (£13.8bn) were services.
- 20% of purchases came from Wales, 51% from other parts of the UK, 15% from the rest of the EU and 5% from the rest of the world. 12% of purchases were unallocated by region.
