Dear Colleagues,

In January, the Centre for Perioperative Care (CPOC) launched the National Safety Standards for Invasive Procedures \(NatSSIPS2\).

An invasive procedure is described as “...a procedure that is performed where a hole or incision is made in a patient or via a patient orifice and usually where a documented consent is required.” The standards cover invasive procedures in all settings, including outpatients and primary care and introduces the concept of checks for major and minor procedures.

NatSSIPS2 have been developed in collaboration across the four UK nations and replace the 2015 NatSSIPs introduced in Patient Safety Notice PSN034. The NHS Wales Executive will not be issuing a new Patient Safety Notice since the actions required in PSN034 are equally applicable to NatSSIPS2.

Please note, although NatSSIPS2 have been developed collaboratively, there are some references to policies specific to NHS England, but which have equivalents for NHS Wales, as follows:

NHS England	NHS Wales
Patient Safety Incident Reporting Framework (PRIF)	NHS Wales Executive National Policy on Patient Safety Incident Reporting and Management as detailed in WHC/2023/017
Duty of Candour	The NHS Duty of Candour GOV.WALES also The Duty of Quality in healthcare GOV.WALES

On 17 April the NHS Wales Executive held a symposium focussed on Invasive Procedures, Never Events and Human Factors. Below are links to the recording and resources from the day which you may find useful.

Symposium 2 Morning session recording (requires NHS network access)

Symposium 2 Afternoon session recording (requires NHS network access)

Queries about NatSSIPs2 should be directed to the NHS Wales Executive at:
PatientSafety.Wales@wales.nhs.uk

Organisations are expected to act on NatSSIPs2 and ensure that the actions specified in PSN034 are applied accordingly.

Yours sincerely,
